Last Call on Homestead Tax

Property Owners Must Sign Tax Renditions in Order to Receive Tax Credit

Notice has been given from the office of Tax Assessor M. E. Cantrell that all property owners who wish to claim homestead exemptions must render their property for taxes at once.

Deputy L. L. Hix has been taking property renditions, but naturally has not been able to find all of the property owners.

The law provides that exemptions cannot be allowed unless the property is actually rendered by the owners.

Mr. Cantrell left Friday for Washington, D. C., where he is attending the FBI training school. Classes started Monday, and an intensive training course will be given local peace officers along the same lines as FBI agents are trained.

All pastors of Canyon are co-operating in this union service of Thanksgiving for peace in Europe.

No Ban Against Subscriptions to The Canyon News

Subscriptions to the Canyon News may be renewed, and new subscriptions accepted. Some readers have been under the false impression that The News could not accept new subscriptions. The ban on news print does not apply to weekly newspaper, as it does to daily newspapers. Any citizen who wishes to become a regular reader of The Canyon News may subscribe now.

It is different with daily newspapers. No daily newspaper can accept new subscriptions. Those whose subscriptions will expire soon are warned to make their renewals now and not run the risk of being cut off the list for the duration. The daily newspapers are not to blame. The publishers must reduce their use of paper, and the only way to do this is to hold their circulation, and reduce their advertising. The News will handle these renewals for you.

Reeves Donnell Is Director of the Dairy Show

At the Panhandle Plains Dairy Show in Plainview last week Reeves Donnell, prominent Randall County Milking Shorthorn breeder, was elected director of the Panhandle Plains Dairy Show Association and also director of the Texas Milking Shorthorn Breeders Association.

While the Donnell herd did not bring so many first places as in former years, the Donnells were happy to bring a good number of seconds and to have had a bull bred by R. Donnell and formerly used as herd sire voted as Grand Champion. This Bull, Don Acres 146th, sold in auction for $500.00.

Although there were twice as many Milking Shorthorns in the show as in years past, Randall County was the only county to have a County herd. Cattle from the herds of Dr. C. E. Donnell, Marion Bruce & Son, R. A. Brown and Reeves Donnell & Son made up this County unit.

Building Bills in House Fails Tuesday By Wide Margin

Citizens of Canyon have been interested in various proposals which have been made in the legislature to provide buildings for state colleges after the war.

One bill was introduced which would divide the building fund of the University and A. & M. College among the other state colleges was voted down Tuesday in the House, 86 to 34.

A constitutional amendment has been submitted providing for a 5c tax for building purposes. The measure received a vote of 70 for and 63 against in the first vote Tuesday. It takes 100 votes to submit a constitutional amendment. The House may consider this amendment at a later time.

Work on the appropriation bill for the state schools has been underway, but neither the House or Senate has passed this measure.

Test For Bangs Started Here

Eleven Herds Are Signed to Take Tests of Cattle That May Be Diseased

The work of testing cows for Bangs disease in Randall county was started this week. Eleven herds under contract are being tested by Dr. C. F. Layton of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry. Dr. Layton is vaccinating all heifer calves from 4 to 8 months of age in these herds.

In this way the herd owners expect to build up herds of cows that are permanently immune to the disease. There is no cost to the owners of cows being tested as this is a program of the Federal Government to control Bangs disease (and undulant fever) in any area where owners of cattle want the work done.

Dr. Layton will be in Randall county from time to time and will blood test each herd at least twice each year and will vaccinate heifers as often as necessary to catch all heifers between ages of 4 and 8 months.

Under this program reactor cows are sold only at the convenience of the owner and may not be sold except for slaughter. They may be kept in the herd as long as the owner desires.

Census of Farms of County Now Being Taken

Beginning this week an Agricultural census of the United States will be taken. This census is taken every five years. No embarrassing questions are asked. Questions to get information that is valuable to government planning are those asked.

Mrs. Kenneth Burum, Mrs. Tom Gooch and Miss Henrietta Beckman have taken a three days' training course from W. L. Boyles at Panhandle in methods of taking the census. Mr. Boyles is supervisor for the entire Panhandle.

Mrs. Burum will canvass Precincts No. 3 and No. 4; Mrs. Gooch, Precinct No. 1 and the town of Canyon. Miss Beckman, Umbarger and Precinct 2.

Opinion Sought Regarding Palo Duro State Park

The Palo Duro Park Committee is asking the opinion and advice of citizens of the Panhandle regarding the future of this noted scenic spot. Letters have been received in Canyon from the Amarillo office on this project.

Holders of the loan have agreed to reduce the $579,000 debt to $290,000. The legislature has not taken action on the debt. The Texas State Parks Board has shown little interest in the Palo Duro Park owing to the impossible debt which has existed.

Panhandle citizens have recommended that a separate park board be created for the Palo Duro with the hope that some solution might be worked out. The legislature passed a bill creating a separate board several years ago when James V. Allred was Governor. The bill was vetoed by request of the Parks Board, while D. E. Colp was the chairman. After the death of Colp, there has been little interest in the Palo Duro shown by the board.

1,000 Pounds of Clothing Ready For Shipment

More than 1,000 pounds of clothing has been received at the Red Cross room for shipment to the unfortunate people of Europe.

Workers at the Red Cross room need packing cases, either cardboard or light wood in order to ship all of this clothing.

The drive continues throughout April and it is expected that a ton or more of good, warm clothing will be gathered for shipment overseas. The clothing will go to those countries which have been robbed by the Nazi soldiers.

President Roosevelt Died Thursday

The nation was shocked when word spread rapidly Thursday afternoon that President Franklin D. Roosevelt had died suddenly at Warm Springs where he was spending a few days. He has been in poor health for several months, but his condition was not considered alarming. The funeral was held at the White House Saturday, with burial at his Hyde Park estate Sunday morning.

Message From Son Held Prisoner of Japs, July 4, '44

The following enemy propaganda broadcast has been received here by Mrs. C. C. Sharp.

Dearest Mother, I am getting along fine. Hope you are the same. I wish I could see Patsy. She sure is cute. Give my love to Anne, Betty, Aunt Pauline (Mrs. Robert McGee) and everyone. Hope to see you soon. All my love, Thornton. This is the first message from Private Sharp since July 4, 1944 and is the third broadcast made by him since his internment three years ago. He was a Lubbock boy, a member of the "Lost Battalion" on Java. Evidently he has received letters and snap shots.

Mrs. Sharp and her daughter, Mrs. R. P. Wilder and 2-year-old daughter, Patsy, are living at 2605 5th temporarily until such time as Mr. Wilder can find an apartment in Omaha where he has recently located.

Commissioners Meet District Engineer Saturday

No word has been received from Austin in regard to the application for farm-to-market roads which was filed several weeks ago by the Commissioners Court as a post-war project.

The district engineer from Amarillo called Judge A. H. Hunt yesterday requesting a meeting with the Commissioners Court for Saturday. It is presumed that the engineer will have some word regarding the application.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Eubanks from Stenson Beach, San Francisco, Calif., visited this week with Mrs. T. I. Hollis. Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Eubanks are daughters of Mrs. Hollis.

Mrs. Bertha Rhoads spent last week in Roswell, N. M., visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Paul Lentner.

Work Started on Dahlia Garden on the Campus

One of the first sure signs of spring on the campus is activity in the dahlia garden. As soon as the first robins appear, and the trees begin to bud, A. L. Tarlton begins to turn the soil in the garden so that when time comes for planting, he will be ready.

The garden is receiving its annual spring "turn-over" at the present, and before much longer the seeds and valuable dahlia bulbs will be planted. When asked about the dates for planting dahlias, Mr. Tarlton stated that he does not plant by the sign of the moon. Rather, he closely observes the nightly temperatures, and daily rise of the thermometer, and when he thinks that freezes are over, he will begin his planting.

The dahlia bulbs have been buried through the winter in a certain spot in the garden, and when the time comes, they will be dug up. Mr. Tarlton has the holes ready and the stick-markers standing in the various rows, so that the major part of his tasks of planting have been finished.

The Dahlia Garden has in the last few years become a favorite spot in the Panhandle. People have come for miles to see the garden in the fall when the flowers have reached their peak of blooming, and the gardener hopes this year that the garden will be more beautiful than ever.

Work Offered by Vet Administration, Washington

The Veterans' Administration in Washington, D. C., urgently needs clerks, typists, and stenographers to assist the returning veterans.

Housing is guaranteed, and living costs are not so great as in most American cities because of the government controlled living quarters and cafeterias where food is moderately priced. Transportation is furnished to those recruited for assignment to Washington, D. C.

Civil Service Examiners will be at the United States Employment Office, Amarillo, Texas, through April 28, to interview and examine persons for these appointments. These interviewers will be in Canyon, Saturday, April 21, Post Office Building, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. to interview anyone who is interested in this work.

Mrs. Butler Receives Award For Son

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Mamie R. Butler was presented War Department decorations as next to kin at a special parade ceremony at Amarillo Army Air Field. Brig. Gen. Carl W. Connell made the presentations.

Mrs. Butler received the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters awarded to her son Staff Sgt. Daniel A. Butler, who was killed in a raid on Germany, April 1, 1944.

Sgt. Butler left Canyon with the National Guard Unit as a part of the 36th Division. He transferred into the air corps soon after training in Brownwood. After training for a gunner, he became a tail gunner for the the 93 Bomb Group. On August 1, 1943, D. A. was forced down over Turkey while returning to base after having bombed Poloesti oil fields. He was interned for six months, returning to his base in England about the middle of January 1944.

The awards received by his mother were awarded for distinguished and meritorious achievements while participating in operations against oil refineries of Roumania and in aerial flight in the Middle East Theatre.

Mrs. Butler was accompanied to Amarillo Field by relatives and friends who witnessed the presentation exercises.

Rain of 1.37 Inches Falls

Wheat Is Greatly Improved by Weekend Moisture; No Big Drop in Temperature

Rain in Canyon since Saturday amounted to 1.37 inches.

The rainfall Saturday measured .85 of an inch; Sunday was .15; and .37 on Monday night.

Canyon had a little more rainfall than was reported at Amarillo and most of the other weather stations over this area. However, all of the Panhandle received good moisture for this west period.

The wheat was given a big boost by the rain. A large acreage of wheat suffered considerably from the heavy freeze which hit while the ground was so dry. It is believed that this rain will revive most of the wheat which was damaged by the freeze.

The temperature for the week has been below freezing two mornings. The lowest of the week was 26 degrees above zero Sunday morning, and 28 degrees Monday morning.

Lt. James Watts Gets Air Medal in India Action

Special to News: Air Transport Command Base, India.—2nd Lt. James D. Watts, pilot, of Canyon, Texas, has been awarded the Air Medal, it was announced by Brig. Gen. William H. Turner, commanding general of the India-China Division, Air Transport Command.

Today the Hump route is the main lifeline of vital military supplies for the Allied forces fighting the Japanese in China.

Six men will be shipped to Oklahoma City on May 1 for induction. Another man, listed for limited service, will be added if the board has one available. The list of men will be compiled today.

Fourteen men will leave May 2 for their physical examinations.

The local board was called upon several weeks ago to forward to State Headquarters the records of a number of young farmers whom the local board considered to be necessary. According to a report received, State Headquarters has placed practically all of these men in 1-A, making them available for military service.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

The death of President Roosevelt was as dramatic as the full life he lived. While Americans generally were uneasy when they saw the pictures of recent weeks, and heard his voice in the last radio speech, yet the real condition seemingly was not serious enough to be alarming to the family.

Death always finds us unprepared. The suddenness of Roosevelt's death left the nation shocked. National unity in sorrow was expressed. So that has ever achieved so much during his life-time, and therefore so that has ever touched the lives of so many people in such an intimate manner. The people of the nation, as well as the people of other Allied nations feel this loss.

Regardless of domestic problems, which have been the cause of division among Americans, the people of the nation feel that Roosevelt has been the balance wheel in foreign relations. It is no secret that Roosevelt has stood between Stalin and Churchill, and has maintained peace when it looked as if a break in the Allied forces was almost certain.

So other than in the world had such a vivid imagination of the possibilities of this nation in producing the war equipment which finally will give Germany and Japan the death blow. Both Churchill and Stalin will recognize this fact, and both have expressed admiration in the past America has played in the war.

It is unfortunate that Franklin D. Roosevelt did not live until the aggressor nations were finally whipped, and peace could be made possible. He had a vision of permanent peace.

Time alone will be the final judge as to the permanency of the war's achievement of the deceased President. Time is usually kind to the memory of those who have passed on.

We were privileged to hear a speaker in Canyon last week. The speaker from the Philippines paid the highest tribute that we have ever heard paid to this nation. Americans are accustomed to being called "ragtag" by foreign nations who do not understand American ways of thinking about the greatest of this nation. Perhaps we do want too much in the wrong time. At any rate, this speaker called attention to the fact that of all the Allied Nations, none who had been under the supervision of America alone had remained true during the war. People of the Philippines have rendered a wonderful service to America during the war because of the kindness we have shown them, and because we had kept our word to the nation. We usually look upon the British as the greatest champions on earth. But the British have shed every colony without regard to the welfare of the natives. This speaker pointed out the fact that there is not a single British colony which has accepted the responsibility of aiding the mother nation in the war. The speaker then pointed to the fact that the friendship of the Philippines to America is largely due to the fine teachers who have been sent to that nation, and the splendid public schools which have been developed. Hearing such a splendid tribute makes one doubly glad that he is an American, and further makes him take off his hat to those who are giving their lives to the education of the youth of the land.

America is becoming more and more incensed over the treatment of German prisoners. Prisoners who have been in America for months have become fat and healthy. In comparison, look at the pictures of prisoners who have been released from German camps. It would seem that the Germans have not been much more humane in the treatment of our prisoners of war than have the Japs. Two or three million of these well-fed young men will return to Germany after the war with hate in their hearts toward America. When they see their homes ruined because of Nazi insanity they will naturally blame this nation. As a result they will plan another war, unless they are carefully guarded for many years to come. Winning a peace that can be properly administered is not going to be easy.

It is hard to realize that we are in the 175th week of the war.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

No man has ever stepped under such a heavy load as did Harry S. Truman when he took the oath of office at 7:01 last Thursday evening. He assumed the obligation of leadership of the greatest nation on earth at a time when many critical problems confronted the world.

If the people of America were to choose a President, they would probably not elect Mr. Truman. He is too much of an unknown on the political horizon. This weakness may be his great strength.

President Truman took a step toward national unity during his first day in office. He called together the leaders of both political parties for a luncheon and conference at the capital. He went to these leaders instead of inviting them to see him. He admitted the tremendous burden which he was assuming, and asked their co-operation.

Mr. Truman has come a long way in a few short years. He was only a local political figure before going to Washington under the guidance of a well known political boss. He created no furor in Washington. His chief achievement in the Senate was the work in investigating and condemning the waste of the war program. He did not hesitate to point at accusing finger at the White House a number of times when waste and lack of management were uncovered in the war program.

Washington correspondents say that Mr. Truman knows the weakness and for that reason relies on the judgment of stronger men. His administration will not be conducted as a one-man government. He has already taken steps to carefully consider the opinions and wishes of men with international training.

There is no question about winning the war. It is practically won. The great question is, "Can we win the peace?" The matter in which unity was shown between both parties in Congress, and the manner in which the new President is taking into consideration the advice of these national leaders is most hopeful.

The nation puts its trust in President Truman, and wishes him success. His success will be the success of the entire nation.

It is clearly indicated that Stalin does not understand America. When he demanded three seats for Russia at the peace party he stated as a matter of fact that the United States would control a great block of seats from the Western Hemisphere. When President Roosevelt pointed out that all nations in this Hemisphere were free to vote as they pleased, Stalin seemed shocked. Having never been out of Russia, and knowing nothing but Old World politics—the pressure kind—Stalin did not understand that in the New World men are free to think and act as they please. Now that Roosevelt is a guide, it will no doubt be necessary for President Truman to meet with Stalin and Churchill before any real peace program is possible.

Washington commentators are looking to 1948 as a critical time in the life of the Democratic party. They are predicting that President Truman will swing to the right, and that Henry Wallace will lead the leftists. Naturally this is all political guess work. The new President has yet to be tried. One surprising statement has come out of Washington, which may upset all political predictions. Wallace is studying the work of Herbert Hoover while he served as Secretary of Commerce. It is reported that Wallace says Hoover is the greatest Secretary of Commerce the nation has had. If this is true, Wallace may be cured of some of his leftist ideas. He might become conservative in spite of his past political affiliation. 1948 is still a long way off in the light of what may take place in that time.

The News recently called attention to the activities of the Republicans in their effort to gain control of Congress in 1946. Republican leaders are carefully studying the various political activities, and have pronounced the campaign of the CIO Political Action Committee as the most effective carried on recently. The News calls attention to the fact that this newspaper reached just such a conclusion last year during the campaign. We called the readers' attention to the effective campaign literature which came from this group. The Republicans are going to follow this style next year.

It looks as if the legislature is going to turn down a constitutional amendment calling a constitutional convention. The reason: the old, old wet-dry issue. Both sides are charging that the other is trying to gain a favorable position in the membership of such a convention. When you want to start a political fight in Texas just raise the wet-dry issue, and war is on. East Texas is against the convention for fear that adequate redistricting will be forced upon that section of the state. Perhaps the prohibition question is a neat little political move to defeat a needed reform.

We are sure having short summers this year.

NO EASY ROAD BACK

There is so much loose talk in political circles about the "rights" to a job that it has become almost meaningless. "Rights" have become confused with "opportunities."

The United States Constitution and Bill of Rights guarantee every citizen fundamental rights that make him a free man to enjoy the opportunity to go as far as he can, based on his ability, ambition and energy. Beyond that, government owes a free man nothing, except if he is destitute or mentally deficient, or handicapped in ways beyond his control. Government should then provide satisfactory means for his care and comfort—that is what government is for. But to try to feed the people with the idea that the government owes a man a living and can create and maintain countless millions of jobs, without destroying a free country, is rank stupidity.

Vote-seeking politicians are trying to make millions of war workers think a benign government can take over all their troubles after the war. Without reason, a government can widen the "opportunities" whereby men can have jobs, recreation and high wages. The extent to which one takes advantage of opportunities depends upon the will and purpose of the individual. As government or anyone else can expand "opportunities," the chances for advancement in living standards are greater, but in no sense are such benefits "rights" to which anyone is entitled, without respect to his own effort to obtain them.

History has shown that when the people of any nation depend on government to do their thinking and providing for them, it is only a short time before they lose their ambition, their initiative and their freedom. There will be no easy road to full employment and prosperity after this destructive war. Only a people who work and save and do not look to government for handouts, will survive and retain their personal liberties.

We have been reading a little of all the things which will be thrown on the market when peace comes. During the war, American scientists and inventors have been busy. As they perfected war machines, they discovered so many new contraptions that it makes one marvel. These manufacturers know that Americans have billions of dollars worth of War Bonds stored away, which they will want to cash after the war. Every manufacturer will be after this money.

WE COULD BE LESS CARELESS

A heartrending story came from across the Pacific the other day. A bomber crashed and a member of the crew was hopelessly trapped in the flaming wreckage. After a number of futile attempts at rescue, an officer among the horrified spectators, unable to stand the victim's screams longer, stepped up and ended the doomed man's life painlessly with his service 45. The officer was later exonerated at a military trial.

The foregoing incident was a tragedy of war. Yet it differs from similar incidents that happen regularly in peacetime only in respect to the method by which the person dying in the flames was put out of his misery. The ten-thousand-odd souls who die by fire in this country every year do it the hard way. They simply scream until they are cooked.

If this sounds unnecessarily morbid and needless, take a look at the nation's fire bill—upwards of half a billion dollars. When it comes to fire, America is grossly careless. We are careless in our homes. We are careless in our factories and around places of amusement. We are careless in our forests. The result is a fire destruction on a scale of almost unbelievable proportions.

We could do something about fire if we wanted to. We could be less careless. We could heed the lessons of experience and fire prevention authorities, which tell us over and over that real fire prevention is a highly individual business—a question of detail of putting out matches and cigarettes properly, cleaning up the basements and attics, keeping heating facilities in good order.

Most of these things could logically be done now. Spring is here and spring is clean-up time. Why not clean up right? Prevent fire, help save lives.

Willie: Pap, I won this book as a prize in natural history.

Papa: Natural history? I thought that was your weakest subject.

Willie: Well, it was like this, the teacher asked how many legs an ostrich had, and I said three.

Papa: But an ostrich only has two legs.

Willie: I know, but the rest of the kids all said it had four.

A basket was kept near the front door to raise the door a bit to get it to open on damp days. One rainy day the door bell rang and little Johnny was sent to see who was there.

"Mrs. Sapp," said a voice outside in response to his query.

"Mrs. Sapp, mother! Get the basket!" Johnny cried back to his mother.

Better Relations Between the Americas

"What Part Can Press and Radio Play as Agents of Good Will Among the Americas?"

By Rose Marie Hoare

Predominant factors in the field of Pan-American cooperation in the years since the turn of the century have included a better understanding of other western hemispheric nations in their attitudes, policies, and foreign affairs.

In order for nations to comprehend the interests which differentiate between them, and the cultural and social patterns which provide variant forms of political, business, agricultural, denominational, and stratified expression, it is necessary that there be close and congenial contact between them.

For this fundamental reason, then, the influence of press and radio in the Latin American countries has been a vital one which no other means of communication could have replaced. By the end of 1941, after a period of whizzing expansion which dated back to the 1920's, every major nation in the hemisphere was connected with the United States, and, indirectly, the rest of the world, by radio.

Freedom of radio and freedom of the press within Latin American borders has been determined largely by the political policy of the specific country controlling the network or syndicate. The building of press and radio in the nations south of the border has been financed at the discretion of the respective governments by British and American capital.

Through radios and newspapers, expression of ideas and interchange of thought has become so usual that the miracle of such contact has lost its first thrill. The benefits derived herefrom, however, have remained with us.

Through the medium of radio, many misconceptions about Latin America life have been cleared up; no longer do our neighbors represent themselves to us as a faraway people of mystery whose every day existence is concentrated on tangos and tropical siestas. (It is to be hoped, in this connection, that we do not seem to them so domineering, wise-cracking, imperialistic-minded as we did less than thirty years ago).

Although Latin-American newspapers have not always been favorably disposed toward the United States, they have been editorially fair for the most part. Through the press dispatches, we have been informed immediately and accurately about what our neighbors have contributed in foreign affairs, their domestic activity, educational devices, and legislative measures, to say nothing of the invaluable background in Latin-American general Information which the average man-in-the-street has amassed.

Programs sponsored under the auspices of Latin-American governments have been patterned, with some amusing differences, on the American plan. Travellers have commented that quiz programs and musical interludes meet with great popularity among our southern neighbors; not all programs are commercially sponsored. In contrast to our system of having a regular announcer for each program, announcers are assigned to the program with the lowest rating and are promoted according to merit until they finally reach the program with the highest rating. Audience participation in the program is encouraged, and the people are nearly always exceptionally eager to be given opportunities to attend and participate in broadcasts.

In recent years, the contact between the United States and her neighbors to the South has resulted in cooperation, tolerance, and a feeling of security that has in turn made possible the opportunity for development of resources in each country. The wealth of mineral deposits and potential agricultural products that have not yet been fully exploited is so vast as to be immeasurable at the present time.

The common interests of the United States and Latin America are so many that current developments accentuate the need for Pan-American cooperation. In the event that one country is deprived of freedom of initiative, the effects are felt throughout the hemisphere. Thus it is obvious that a fuller understanding of what makes each individual nation what it is, and the motives that prompt international action is a desirable end in itself.

The means of achieving this end is at hand in the constructive use of radio and press for the advancement of common aims. If we are to be integrated and adapted to one hemispheric policy, newspapers and radio programs are a way to educate ourselves and each other. Since we have already begun to exchange programs and hookups, the trend toward use of radio as contact has proved its value.

Latin American newspapers have made astounding progress in recent years toward achieving an equal standing with the newspapers of other countries. The fact that censorship of the press and a lack of freedom to express opinion has been denied most editors has detracted from their prestige; moreover, it is common knowledge that the press is often used as a direct propaganda medium of the government. Magazines depicting life and customs of the people have been more successful in their approach; those that have been circulated throughout the United States and have been made available to students and interested people have done much to replace erroneous ideas and facts.

In summing up, as a means of understanding each other, and growing together to appreciate each other, we have congenial contact points in press and radio. The road is now open for true

Pan-American friendship—a friendship in which all the countries of the hemisphere join as equals, and go on to a more prosperous, successful, cooperative future.

The Part Education Can Play in the Promotion of Better Inter-American Relations.

by Imogene Wilmoth

When you speak of America to me I immediately think of two pictures. One is America the beautiful with purple mountains, golden grain, long green grass, fruit and cattle. That is the America we sing of. But the other is America the colorful, with gaiety, dancing and a mystic clicking of music. A land rich with coffee, cattle, and beautiful timber. Yes, there are two pictures but they stand for one thing and they always shall. It is necessary that we as people of the north and south Americas must understand that.

Now as never before the two Americas are becoming one. That is wonderful for North and South America to be sisters in their relations, but like sisters they must strive to keep their individuality. It is not necessary that South America leave off any of their customs and traditions and North America must not leave off theirs. Bright colors and gay traditions suggest South America; light-hearted, generous, and gullible people suggest North America to other nations. Hence we must not leave off costumes or celebrations so that we might live more like another.

Education is now considered one of the four great needs of people. Education has been listed along with food, clothing, and shelter among people who have seen suffering and great want. Speaking for the people of the United States of America I feel safe in saying that we are all over-eager to learn more about South America, to learn of her customs, literature, habits, beliefs, sentiment, and more than anything, of her people. I feel that I might speak for the people of South America by saying that they are eager and perhaps ambitious to learn of North America. This, as most all of us know, can only be obtained through education—education of one another. This education may be obtained through exchange of students. Suppose we take a few typical students of North American literature and some typical students of South American literature and make an exchange of these students. Do the same in drama, in history, and in science of all kinds. Already great things have come from experiments in agriculture. Such projects as these have been tried on the small scale and have for the most part been rather successful. It seems there should be great possibilities for work in the field of medicine and other cultured assets such as literature and drama. Most definitely one would find such groups as colleges and universities responding whole-heartedly to these students, lecturers, and men on missions for their government who take time to visit them. Who would be more worthy of such visitors than college students? College and University students of today will make the rules, run the big businesses, teach the schools and say whether we have lasting friendships or wars tomorrow. Bonds of friendship grow only through education.

Outside America there have been two pictures painted of our Americas in the minds of people, but within the Americas there have been dozens painted in the minds of young boys and girls. Always there has been the dream of being a cowboy or cowgirl and always having plenty of excitement. An other very common desire would be to live the romantic life of a wealthy coffee plantation owner. Every youngster has at some time or another wanted to be a daring fireman or a courageous nurse. It would certainly be wonderful to be a government man or a secret service man, and chase bandits through the Smokey Mountains down through Old Mexico capturing them on the border of Argentina. Last, but not least, we have all had the urge or dream at some time or another to just be a vagabond and wonder around through the world, lingering at the places liked best. The fact that we have freedom to do these things is the reason that we some times appeal to so many people of other countries. We are considered heroes to others because we have freedom.

Yes, somewhere we have all had a hero to idealize, and a God to worship. But outside our beloved Americas it has not always been like this. There has not always been clean sportsmanship to follow or a democratic way of life; but somehow the other nations have looked to this young land of America for aid, and in this time of war we shall not be looked to any less for guidance and leadership if we stay within the bounds we have always been in. In this time of heart-break, when America is being looked to for strong support, is there any reason why we should not profit by our mistakes and the mistakes of others to strengthen bonds of our relationship, thus making Americans heroes in the eyes of all that we help.

Can you honestly say what makes a good, sound, stable government? It is the people's desire, their will, their ideals. But one cannot build a sound business or government on good will and ideals alone. There has to be more than that. There must be wisdom and a clear understanding of the laws set up by other people, an understanding of our limits and their rights. This can be obtained only through education. Of course, a democratic government can not be established or retained without a democratic desire, will and ideal. This is what we hear crying out to us, the youth of the Americas. "Keep our land a symbol of freedom—freedom from ignorance."

The doctor wouldn't assure him he could be cured of the measles in a week, because he wouldn't make any rash promises.

Their very LIVES depend on you!

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

THE VERY LIVES of multitudes in war-torn countries depend on the filling of their desperate need for clothing.

The demands of America's armed forces and civilian needs are so great that only a small amount of new clothing can be spared for overseas relief.

But all of us can spare some serviceable used clothing—to provide the 150 million pounds that must be collected this month for that purpose.

In the clothes closets and attics of America's homes is enough usable, spare clothing to help care for the 125 million men, women, and children—in Europe alone—who have given all but life itself toward the same lasting peace we all are fighting for.

Let's get it out—and send it off—NOW!

What YOU Can Do!

- 1 Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, shirts, skirts, jackets, pants, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.
- 2 Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT now or arrange to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.
- 3 Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort and energy.

So the city folks have done it! Well, WATCH OUR SPEED!

WORD comes from Washington that the fat-salvage problem has got to be licked in the small cities, the towns and on the farms.

We women have to save enough used fats in our kitchens to help make munitions, medicines, fabrics, soap for military and civilian use, and many other essentials.

The job, to date, has been done largely by city people, because arrangements for collecting the fats were made in the cities first. And these city folks are turning in more than twelve million pounds a month!

Now we're called on. And will the women on the farms and in the towns and small cities break that record?

Don't worry—just watch our speed!

HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl.

Melt down once a week when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can.

Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you two red points and up to four cents for every pound. If you have any difficulty, call your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent. This message is approved by WFA and OPA, and paid for by Industry

One Shot, 5 Rabbits; Here's How It's Done

ERIE, PA.—Shotgun shells are scarce. When Gilbert Nielsen, storekeeper for the Dispatch-Berold, braggart of bagging five rabbits with one shot, everybody asked, "How?" "Easy," explained Nielsen. "I fired at them and missed. The noise frightened them and they dashed into the nearest hole. I smoked them out."

Heroes Dying So Others May Live

Survivor of Liscombe Bay
Tells of Sacrifices.

PEARL HARBOR.—When the U. S. S. Liscombe Bay, escort aircraft carrier, sank in a mass of flames off Makin Island November 14, the torpedoes carried down many men who risked their lives for their shipmates with their own.

The Japanese submarine's torpedo struck on the starboard side around 8:15 a. m., said Capt. John G. Crommelin, Jr., of Montgomery, Ala., who told the story of the death and final 20 minutes of the carrier's career.

Crommelin, chief of staff of Bear Adm. Henry M. Mullins, who was lost with the ship, dove from the flight deck with even less than a new-born babe, because "I left part of my hide behind."

Coming from a shower bath and wearing only a bath towel when the torpedo exploded, Crommelin joined officers and enlisted men in efforts to save lives.

"The lights went out, but flames lit the ship's interior instantly," he added.

The gasoline and oil-fueled flames burned off Crommelin's hair, seared his right side, shoulder, legs and the soles of his feet.

"I had difficulty walking because my burned feet were painful and the catwalks were piled high with sharp debris. I could do little but direct the men."

Crommelin cited Lieut. Com. Buzz Carroll of Long Island, N. Y., an enlisted man in the first World War, for heroism.

Carroll was cut across the stomach from shoulder to hip, but he went below decks to help trapped men free themselves, and helped wounded men to escape hatches.

Flirts With Death as Bomb Dangles From Plane

ATLANTIC CITY.—Sitting on a bomb in a Flying Fortress while enemy planes were attacking is an experience First Lieut. John C. Antonik of Belleville, N. J., would just as soon never have again.

"I thought I had released all my bombs," the 14-year-old bombardier said.

"We were at a high altitude over Italy and had just come off the target. I closed the bomb bay doors. Then one of the men in the rear yelled into the interphone that one of the bombs had stuck and was dangling inside the plane."

"I slipped out of my parachute and Mae West so I could crawl back to the bomb bay. I took a 'walk-around' oxygen bottle with me so I could breathe."

"Sure enough, there it was, a 120-pound fragmentation bomb swinging back and forth on a wire. I had a hard time with it because breathing was difficult. And I was afraid it would go off any second."

"I cut the wire and got the bomb down. My walk-around bottle was all used up and I was groggy. I managed to hook on to the oxygen outlet in the bomb bay, and then sat down on the bomb to rest."

"The enemy fighter had started attacking just before that, but there was nothing I could do. We came through it all right."

Army on Italian Front Attacked by Trench Foot

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGERIA.—"Trench foot," a disease prevalent among soldiers in World War I, is appearing on the Italian front for the first time in this war, the American medical service announced.

The disease is caused by soldiers' standing in mud and water, unable to change shoes and socks.

"Our problem is very difficult because of the slit trench variety of warfare now being fought," Maj. Henry Snyder of Winfield, Kan., said. "In the last war the construction of long trenches allowed for dugouts where the men could dry their feet and change shoes at intervals."

Yank Meets His Cousin; He's an Italian Soldier

WASHINGTON.—Sergeant Frank Rio of 719 South Paulina street, Chicago, on duty with a B-25 Mitchell medium bomber squadron of the northwest African air forces, recently struck up a conversation with some Italian soldiers who were manning an anti-aircraft battery, the army announced. One of the Italians recognized Sergeant Rio as an American.

"My name is Rio," the Italian said, "and I have an uncle living in Chicago at 719 South Paulina street."

The American sergeant and the Italian soldier are cousins. Sergeant Rio's father is Vincenzo Rio.

Home Grapevines Larger Than Commercial Yards'

Most grapevines in home gardens or arbors are larger than vines in commercial vineyards because they have been pruned less. As a result, while a vine in a commercial planting is usually trimmed to 40 buds or less each year, the home garden grapevines may have more buds left to bear a crop. A large vine covering an arbor might be trimmed to 150 or 200 buds. The larger the vine the more fruit it is capable of bearing, but it should be pruned each year to keep the fruit large and the vine within bounds.

The clusters of grapes that develop this season will grow on shoots from the buds of last year's canes. Grapevines that grew normally last year have so many of these canes and buds that unless most were cut off, the clusters of grapes would be small, many with only three or four berries, and the vines would spread and tangle.

The best canes to keep for bearing the crop are ones about the diameter of a lead pencil or larger, with about five or six inches between the buds. Smaller canes and as much old wood as possible should be cut off. Young canes that grow out near the main trunk are the best to save, so that old wood farther out may be removed. This keeps the fruiting area close to the trunk. It is wise to leave several spurs (or canes cut to two buds) close to the trunk, to make fruiting canes for the next year.

If a small vine is to be trimmed to 40 buds, not all canes need to be the same length of 10 buds each.

Solution Helps Check Spread of Cattle Grub

Use of a rotenone and soap solution will enable farmers to control cattle grubs, which annually cost thousands of dollars in lost milk production, and in lowered values for cattle hides.

In late winter, these grubs, caused by the ox-warble fly, crawl out of lumps on the cow's back, after they have remained there about five weeks. They can be destroyed during this period by sprinkling and brushing on the backs of the animals a solution of three-fourths of a pound of 5 per cent rotenone and three ounces of soap in a gallon of water. This is used about 25 days after the first "grub bumps" are seen, says Prof. H. H. Schwartz of the New York State college of agriculture.

As not all the grubs mature at the same time at least four treatments a month apart are recommended. A gallon of the solution provides one treatment for about 16 cows. In small herds, the grubs can be squeezed out by hand.

If all cattle were treated for removal of grubs, the pests could be destroyed, as the grubs that escape are the only source of infection.

Short-Sorters

The Short-Sorters club originally was composed of people who had blown over an ocean and then obtained signatures of two short-sorters on a dollar bill, which became that person's certificate of membership in the exclusive but informal organization. Since the war began, however, thousands have been blown across oceans and been admitted to the Short-Sorters and today thousands of others who have blown only over land consider themselves short-sorters and will produce credentials to prove it.

Many short-sorters enthusiastically collect signatures from all fellow-passengers on trips and all brother-members at bars and when one bill is covered paste a new one, possibly from another country, to the original membership bill. High denominations often are used now. They must carry their credentials or, if caught without them by fellow-members, pay the penalty, which may be a round of drinks for all members present, or payment of $1 to each member present, or both.

Governmental Units

A total of 155,148 governmental units levy taxes and render public services in the United States. Included are 3,050 counties in 47 states—county areas in Rhode Island are not organized for governing purposes—and 18,884 townships. There are 16,129 actively organized municipalities, including cities, towns, boroughs and villages.

Largest category is school districts, constituting 76 per cent of the total, according to information to the International City Managers association. Excluding these, municipalities comprise about 33 per cent, townships 41 per cent, special districts 18 per cent and counties less than 7 per cent of the total.

Units exist primarily to conduct local government in the general municipal sense; to supply some specific local public service or to carry out any of the numerous possible combinations of general or specific functions.

Food Economy

To help homemakers in eliminating food waste, here are some pointers in food handling. Serve second helpings rather than too much at first, so that waste will not have to be put into the garbage pail; remember that certain minerals and vitamins "love to swim"; save the green tops of root vegetables; buy sufficient food, but not so much that it will spoil before it can be used; and store food carefully to avoid its spoiling.

Ashes of burned money can be analyzed and redeemed.

Several hundred men were hard at work on a new excavation for a new plane plant. It was a rush job, and the foreman rarely let them forget it. When they were just beginning to lay the foundation, a man with a ladder on his shoulder stopped to watch the proceedings. The foreman saw him and roared out to the working men. ## AMERICA WON'T LET YOU DOWN

Blasted out of the sky in the battle for the Philippines, he waits in shark-infested waters—alone. Surely they'll send out rescue planes—surely they'll find him! Boy, what he wouldn't give for another crack at those Japs! For the chance to finish the fight.

Memorial Services Tributes Are Paid to President Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Dr. Fronabarger Heads
Committee for Memorial Service Plans

Simplicity and restraint characterized the community service in memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, held last Saturday morning in the Administration Building of the college. College students, members of the faculty, and large numbers of Canyon residents attended the service.

The program was under the direction of Dr. B. F. Fronabarger and a committee appointed by President J. A. Hill which included Mayor W. A. Warren, Mr. C. L. Thompson, and Mr. Glenn Truax.

Miss Pauline Brigham played sacred music immediately preceding the service. Reverend R. W. Jones of the Presbyterian Church began with a scripture reading, describing the death of Moses, after which the assemblage was lead in singing "How Firm a Foundation" by Dr. W. R. Clark.

Dr. Hill delivered an address in which he stressed the need for faith and hope in this hour of crisis. "Before this supreme tragedy has ended, before the warlords of Germany and Japan have been brought to the bar of justice, . . . our great leader, the President of the United States, the world's chief exponent of human liberty, the hope of the oppressed everywhere, is seized by the ruthless hand of death."

"Franklin Delano Roosevelt has been the best loved and most maligned man who ever sat in the White House, not even Lincoln excepted," continued President Hill. "His bitterest critics, however . . . admit his greatness. . . . He has given his life for the freedom of man and the perpetuity of his country . . . just as our sons are doing every day on the battlefields of the world."

"God grant that he upon whose shoulders the mantle of Franklin D. Roosevelt has fallen may have the strength and the will to lead our country and the world to new heights of peace and brotherhood," he concluded.

Following Dr. Hill's address, the audience sang Mr. Roosevelt's favorite song, "Home On the Range." Excerpts from the speeches made by the late president were delivered by Professor Jack Douglas. The Women's Choir, singing "Thy Will Be Done," was heard from the balcony.

Dr. A. K. Knott read poems expressing the spirit of America. A few moments of silent prayer, during the playing of "Now The Day is Over," was lead by Reverend Joe Findley, after which the audience sang the last verse of the hymn.

In conclusion, the entire assemblage joined in the last stanza of "America" and filed from the auditorium in reverent silence.

A large picture of President Roosevelt, surrounded by greenery and red roses had been arranged on the stage by a committee consisting of Miss Jean Moore, Mr. J. A. Gillis, Miss Novella Goodman and Miss Adele Barnes.

He was told to take two aspirins and a hot bath. The aspirins went down easy, but before he could swallow all that water his stomach was moving in and out with the tide.

Silver Star Medal Given Posthumously Chas. O. Cheyne

With the 36th "Texas" Division, Alsace—Private First Class Charles O. Cheyne, brother of James D. Cheyne, Canyon, Texas, has been awarded, posthumously, the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action while serving with the 111th Medical Battalion of the 36th "Texas" Division fighting in France.

The citation states, " . . . On December 5, 1944 in France. Private Cheyne, an orderly on an ambulance, answered a call from an artillery battalion to aid a group of casualties wounded by exploding mines. Upon arriving at the designated area, he discovered that there were five injured soldiers lying approximately 15 yards from the road in a mine field. Without waiting for the mines to be cleared, Private Cheyne took a litter from the ambulance and courageously moved down the slope from the road to aid the casualties. Fully aware of the dangers involved, he moved calmly about the mined area, administering first aid to each of the wounded men in turn. As he reached the last of the injured soldiers, he stepped on a hidden mine and was mortally wounded by the explosion. As a result of his selflessness and valor, the lives of the other casualties were saved. His noble sacrifice was a source of great inspiration to all who witnessed his deed."

Basic Preparation for Future Lawyers Offered by WT

Young men and women who wish to become lawyers can get their basic preparation at West Texas State College, as is shown in the College catalog of last year, as well as the one which is expected soon from the printers.

The majority of reputable law schools require graduation from a four year standard college for entrance.

Another plan calls for three years college work, totalling 93 semester hours, all in required subjects, and with an average of "C" or above based on all courses whether passed or failed.

The required subjects are English, twelve hours, Freshman mathematics, six hours, Foreign Languages Spanish or Latin recommended, twelve hours, Natural Science, six hours, History, twelve hours, Government, nine hours, Economics, nine hours, and Business Administration, thirty hours.

Not all courses in History, Government, Economics, and Business Administration will fit the requirements, so students who choose Law as a profession should consult the adviser who has been appointed to help them. This is Dr. S. H. Condon, head of the department of Government and Economics.

West Texas State College has a large number of successful lawyers among its graduates. Senator Grady Hazlewood, Bill Brian, Charles Keffer, W. W. Gibson, all of Amarillo, Frank Day of Plainview, Ira Allen of Houston, Ex-senator Bob Stewart, and Jack Rattiken of Fort Worth and George M. Ritchie of Mineral Wells are among them.

and think!"

"Guess I've just naturally been counting on a new car as soon as victory rolls around."

"But they say it may be 2 to 3 years postwar before I can get one! Makes a man stop and think about saving his old car!"

"Luckily, I saw my Gulf man. He said if I let him treat my car regularly with Gulfpride* and Gulflex,** I could be pretty certain that mine will last!"

"Well, sir, I'm riding along with the finest lubrication money can buy and I expect to go on riding for a long time yet. So I'm not worrying!"

THANK YOU FORD OWNERS

YOU OWNERS of Ford-built cars and trucks deserve great credit for your part in keeping one quarter of the nation's vital automotive transportation rolling. With shortages in manpower and parts we've been able to do our share of the job only because you have been patient and cooperative. AND WE THANK YOU!

• • Repair needs mounted swiftly as cars grew older. Parts were scarce. We had to train mechanics and rebuild parts, engines and whole assemblies—normally factory jobs—in our own service departments, often at higher overtime costs.

• • You saw and understood our great problems. You set an example of fair play and common sense, and you helped us by being patient during this critical period.

• • Your cars and trucks still have a long way to go. Probably they already have been driven much farther than normally would be the case. And even when new cars are produced again, it will be a long time before they are available for all who want them!

• • Don't neglect your present car. Working together we can help you get all the "extra" miles that Ford built in! Keep on bringing your car "home" for the best service possible under war-time conditions.

IRONY

One night the wall of the French sirens sent me scurrying in my pajamas to a refuge in Paris. I sat in the underground hole nearly an hour; a French millionaire sat beside me, and as we fiddled with our gas masks and talked about the horrors of air war, the millionaire growled: "And to think that I subscribed for a monument to Wilbur Wright!"

SOMETHING CHUMMY

"I tell you I won't have this room!" protested the old lady to the bellboy who was conducting her. "I'm not going to pay good money for a closet with a folding bed. If you think that just because I'm from the country—" "Get in, lady, get in," the boy cut in wearily. "This isn't your room. This is the elevator."

It's kinda tough going nowadays when we have to do without so many things that our parents never had.

Girls, you can't make your husband feel like a Pagan God by placing a burnt offering before him at mealtime.

Some years ago the following death notice of a Ruben Jones appeared in a Baltimore paper: "He heard the angels calling From that bright celestial shore; He flapped his wings and away he went To make one angel more."

Peace Will Fail Without the Golden Rule, Says Speaker

"Unless there is a place at the San Francisco peace table for the Golden Rule, the conference will fail," stated Jim Farwell, Amarillo Rotarian, Tuesday at the luncheon of the local club.

Mr. Farwell was introduced by Roy Holland, who was in charge of the program. He talked largely of the influence of Rotary and other service clubs which are seeking to make the world better.

Two important parts of the Golden Rule are stressed: "Do" and "others." "Do" implies that the member of a service club must be active, creative, give service. "Others" implies that if we expect good treatment for ourselves, we must give such treatment to all with whom we come in contact.

"I don't like the word 'competitor,'" stated the speaker. All business men used to talk about their competitors, and do the exact opposites of what their competitors were doing. We have reached a stage of sanity when we adopted the good policies which our competitors use. We cultivate them, and make them our friends, instead of taking a cut-throat attitude."

The speaker referred to the famous statement of Will Rogers, "I never saw a man I didn't like." Mr. Farwell called upon all citizens to become acquainted with their neighbors, and magnify their good points. In such a way we shall all like our neighbors.

Looking at post-war planning, the speaker wondered if the world is ready for permanent peace. He wondered why we had not thought about the good neighbor policy before. This cultivates friendship, and understanding. Application of the Golden Rule is the only means whereby permanent peace may be secured.

Visitors were: Rev. W. R. Mann and Rev. Joe Findley of Canyon; Tom Cotton, Arch Hunsley, E. Jobe, H. F. McFarland, L. A. Vahue, Capt. R. M. Smith, all of Amarillo; Bob Lindsey of Borger.

"D'ye keep tooth brushes?" asked the soldier. "Yes." "I'd like one, please." "Certainly!—and what kind would you like, a soft-haired one or a stiff one?" "Bless you, ma'am," replied the soldier. "I don't want to use it—it's for kit inspection."

Ike: "Where you been?"
Mike: "In a phone booth talking to my girl, but someone wanted to use the phone, so we had to get out."

"Now what was the name of the germ the doctor was warning us about?"

"S'funny. Let's see, it's right on the tip of my tongue."

"Say, you had some nerve to kiss me."

Wife: I'm afraid, dear, you don't love me as much as you used to. You always let me get up and make the fire now.

Hubby: Nonsense, sweetheart, your getting up to make the fires makes me love you all the more.

A young lady walked into a store and dropped her bag on the counter. "Gimme a chicken," she said.

Grocer: "Do you wanna pullet?"

Young Lady: "No, I wanna carry it."

The good things come to those who hustle while they wait.

The Chapel for the campus of West Texas State College is another gift nearer reality. The latest check is from Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo.

Mr. Studer is well known on the campus, having devoted much time and money to the interests of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. He is one of the best known archaeologists and anthropologists of the region, and his scientific studies, coupled with his interest in religion, have been the basis for an interesting and popular lecture, "The Story in the Rocks."

At the present time Mr. Studer is director of archaeological research for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

Training Session for Basketeers Is Planned for May

Tabulations of the Basketball summary of scoring points have recently been totaled, and of the 1369 points scored in the 26 games of the season, Clark Johnson, captain of the basketeers, looped 460 points, to gain top honors. Deacon not only claimed top scoring honors, but he was also the tallest boy on the Buffalo team, towering to the height of six feet, four inches.

J. W. Malone, who was named guard on the All-American team at the Kansas City Tournament, follows Johnson with a total of 201 points, and J. L. Houser lags behind Malone but two points, having scored 199 points.

Rufus Graves looped 172 points to help his team gain the victories that it did. Kenneth Simpson ranked fifth, having made 80 points, closely followed by Metz LaFollette who made 73. LaFollette left for the Navy early in the season.

Bill Allen, of Stratford, made 64 scoring points; Dick Wiggins scored 46; Johnny Johnson scored 41; Norman Higgins scored 21; Bill H. Allen scored 13; and Don Leach scored 9.

In the field goals attempted 1721 scoring points were possible, while only 577 were made. In the free goals attempted 406 points could have been made, while 215 were realized. Personal fouls totaled 338.

In the first week of May, Spring basketball training will begin, and visiting high school boys will come to West Texas State to familiarize themselves with the playing tactics of the Buffaloes. The training period will be held on a similar basis as that of the Football Training Camp.

Spring Training Camp Starts Second Week

The second week of the Spring Football Training is now under way, and another new group of boys have reported to Coaches Gus Miller and Windy Nicklaus to participate in the annual spring event. Last week approximately 40 boys attended the training session, coming to West Texas State from various high schools in the Panhandle. Spring training is to cover a period of four weeks, and during this time the visiting boys are given an opportunity to get acquainted with the college as well as with the football regulations.

When the boys report for practice each day they go through preliminary physical exercises, and tackling, passing, running and punting practices. They divide into teams and have scrimmage plays.

"This training is proving very successful," commented Coach Miller. "The boys are working hard and enjoying themselves too, and the prospects look good for a fine team next fall."

Secret Judges Announce Dance Contest Winners

Concluding Canyon High School's Youth Center program for the year of 1945, the freshman class, under Mrs. Ed Weeks' sponsorship, directed the final Center Friday night, April 13.

To vary the usual routine, the freshmen conducted a contest electing the cutest couple, the best old fashioned waltzers, and the best jitterbuggers. Betty Brown and Leroy Hutton, J. Spencer Winn and Ellen Sanders, and Geneva McDougal and Max Bellah won the prizes, respectively.

Refreshments of hot dogs, soda pop, and potato chips were sold. Mrs. B. A. Burrus helped the food committee; Mrs. W. W. Nicklaus, the music committee; Mrs. Fred M. Standley, general committee, and Mrs. Alfred Bellah helped with the registration.

Members Attend Called Meetings

Because regular meetings had not been planned for last week, three Canyon High School classes held called business meetings last Friday.

Seniors discussed commencement plans and elected the following positions: prophet, Tommy Thompson; historian, Margaret Lair; and poet, Ellen Sanders.

According to plans made in their meeting, sophomores will attend a class tacky party tonight at 8:00 in the high school gymnasium.

Members of the junior class discussed plans for the junior-senior banquet including place cards and decorating materials.

OF A GREAT MAN

Folks don't usually think we high school students think much about world affairs.

Well, maybe we don't—who knows? But there is no doubt about the fact that we realized the seriousness of the death of one of the greatest presidents in U. S. history just a week ago. We did realize that the most world-shaking history was being made than at any other time in our lifetimes.

And we will support our new president—who has just taken upon his shoulders one of the heaviest loads in the world—in our actions, words, and in our thinking.

Juniors Designate Banquet Scheme

As is customary about this time every spring, Juniors are making plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet. This year's banquet is to be held on May 4 in the Methodist Church at 1818 Fourth Avenue. Juniors and guests which include seniors, class room-parents, program guests, faculty, board members, and other friends of the school will later dance in the grade school gym. The class is sponsored by Mrs. Kate Donnell Brewster, ordered place cards and programs from the Stump Printing Co.

Members of the class, working on the decorations committee are Ray McDonald, Bobby Mickey, Malcolm Gunter, Jessie Pearl Harding, Bonnie Drake, Louise Dickinson, and Pauline Ruthart. On the program committee, Lee Mann, Johnny Wallen, Anita Johnigan, Wilma Schutte, Cheri Kilchriste, and Imelda Lange participated.

by Frances Gooch

Well, old "Betty girl" made her appearance Tuesday on the football field for the first time in several years. By the way "Betty girl" happens to be the blocking dummy used in football practice.

Monday, April 16, 47 young "men" came out for practice. Last week the new exercising caused moans and groans to issue forth from these "young hopefuls" but now they are just about over their soreness. Tuesday they received headgear and began working on their tackling and blocking.

Mr. Sanders says they are fairly good but will need to eat plenty of Wheaties this summer in preparation for next fall.

Volleyball intramurals began Monday, April 16, when the seniors out-volleyed the juniors with a score of 22-10. Tuesday the freshman and sophomores played and Wednesday the seventh and eighth opposed each other.

Wanda Price, physical education teacher, officiates in the intramurals. At the end of 15 minutes the team that is ahead wins.

Captains of the classes are Joyce Sanders, senior; Johnny Frances Wallen, junior; Joan Morton, freshman; Dorothy Butler, eighth; and Leona Graves, seventh. Sophomores have not elected their captain.

We hope Bill Davis will soon be well. He was injured in football practice last week.

A bushel of wheat usually weighs 60 pounds and can be made into 42 pounds of flour, eight and three-fifths pounds of bran, and nine and two-fifths pounds of shorts.

Early-day settlers along the Hudson were so fond of a game called "kolf" that laws were passed in 1760 forbidding its being played on Sunday.

A fortnight means two weeks.

Imagine! A pin-up girl and boy in Canyon High School! That's right. We did it the democratic way. Each student voted for the girl and boy they wanted. By this method the two most beautiful people in circulation took a step to the top. That dream girl, Rose Hugg, took first place for the girls and Dick Milford is the pin-up boy. Runners up for the girls were Bonnie Drake and Betty Brown. The boys in close order were Leroy Hutton, Sandy Oliver, and "Rusty" Davis.

Rose is a senior, mind you, and she is exactly 5' 2" tall. She weighs 107 pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes. Isn't she a luscious looking lovely? She wears a size four shoe with shoe strings and her eye lashes are about an inch long. Don't forget boys! If you don't have a pin-up picture yet, get one as soon as you can! After all there aren't so very many pin-up girls in CHS. P. S. Rose isn't going steady!

Dick Milford, that irresistible sophomore, is dark complected with black hair that waves every day (every day that he doesn't forget to curl it the night before). He is about 5' 6" tall, his shoes are about as long as a foot ruler, and his eyes are "flashing black." Now girls don't forget he is going steady. Isn't that luck for one? But never the less we can still put up his picture and not cause any trouble.

These pin-up pictures may be glued to your mirror, tacked on the wall, hung on the door knobs, placed under your pillow and put in your bill folds. Now all you have to do is get a picture.

Students Observe Memorial Rites

Gathering around the flag pole between the two buildings Friday morning, students of the Canyon Public School participated in a memorial to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Supt. J. B. Speer introduced Rev. Robert W. Jones, who delivered the address and W. R. Mann, Presbyterian missionary who led the prayer.

J. Spencer Winn raised the flag as James Meroney played the Call to Colors; the flag was then lowered to half mast as James and C. L. Hood played Taps. After marching back to classes, the students stood at attention while the "Star Spangled Banner" was played.

Professors Propound Prime Preferences

Have you ever wondered what your dearly beloved teachers' teenage ambitions were?

Well, for my own curiosity's sake, I have asked some of our own teachers that very question.

Mrs. Emma Gene Jackson's first reply was, "Oh! dear, don't expect me to remember that far back." But then she said, "When I was growing up, a girl either taught school, got married, or clerked in a store. I wasn't interested in getting married or clerking in a store, so I had to teach school; but I really enjoy it."

Now our journalism teacher, Mrs. Nora E. Gilmore, was going to stun all movie producers everywhere with her acting. Marrying her teacher fiancé, however, was her downfall for it was then she decided to be a teacher.

To be a nurse claimed Miss Birdie C. Crabtree's ambitious ideas as she graduated from high school. She would still like to be a nurse but just can't tear herself away from instructing poor knowledge-seeking offsprings.

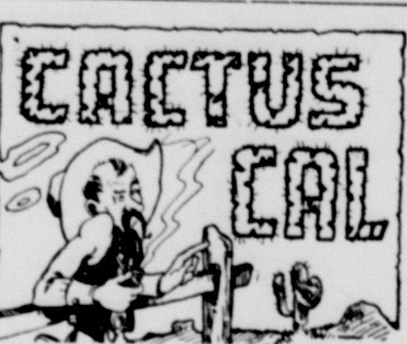

Owning a ladies' ready-to-wear store and selling the latest and most exclusive apparel with costume jewelry fascinated Mrs. Cecil Simms when she was growing up.

Of course there had to be someone who conceived the idea of being a school teacher at an early age. This very thing happened to Mrs. Ewell Fowler, our homemaker teacher. Her inspiration came from her favorite sixth grade teacher, a 55 year old man.

Being a linguist (what's that, you say) was Mrs. Dan Sanders' teenage conception of a wonderful life. Well, she told me it was a person interested in foreign languages, who traveled from country to country studying the living and speaking habits of that nation.

Cheer up, now old Bean, I didn't mean to raze your air castles. All of us can't be school teachers, so perhaps you'll turn out to be that "killer diller" of an actress, a foreign correspondent, or even president.

Don't give up the ship at this early date.

It's a wonder Bruce Albers would take Frances Harp home again Friday night after the way he got his black eye last time, but he did have Sandy Oliver along to protect him. Wonder how they managed to stay out of danger this time?

If cupid wants to keep his reputation, something must be done about the dying embers of the once bright flame between Vernon Rugles and Mary Etta Canada.

Betty McGeehee in the fifth grade is really getting around these days, since Raymond Bennett and James Cundiff have been known to be fond of her; but it appears that Betty caters to that handsome Walton Byrd of the sixth grade.

It is rumored that Thomas Hooper in the sixth grade put starch in his bright red hair to make it stand up three inches high.

These sailor uniforms, official or unofficial, really seem to attract the little girls. Don't they boys? (Specifically mentioning Sandy Oliver and J. Spencer Winn.)

Something is brewing between Leroy Hutton and Nancy Wilson. Can it be the spring influence cupid is weaving over them.

Editor Promotes Photograph Sale

Ellen Sanders, editor of the annual, Soaring Wings, has been selling copies of pictures of school students which are to appear in the annual.

Mr. C. K. Henington of Wolfe City, Texas, took these pictures several months ago and is offering them to the school at a profit to the staff which will help pay for publication expenses.

Those pictures which were not bought have been sent back to the company. Individual grade school pictures taken by Mr. Henington will not appear in the annual, but group class pictures will.

She said that she was just a little pebble on the beach of his life, so he asked her to be a little boulder.

Cartoons Disclose Various Interests

Under the sponsorship of the Canyon High School Eagle's Tale, the English students have drawn cartoons with such things as War Bonds and Stamps, humorous incidents, school activities, and the war effort as their subjects.

English teachers required these drawings, and they seem to think that the winning cartoons will be hard to pick. Judges will choose the outstanding cartoons, and the Eagle's Tale will have cuts made of them and publish the drawings in the paper.

Albers Reveals Trait Of Man and Beast

It was Senior Kid Day in CHS. Some of the little children were enacting the play, "Three Bears."

Tommy Thompson: "And so the three bears came back and the papa bear started to eat his soup, and he said—"

Bruce Albers: "SOMEBODY'S BEEN EATING MY SOUP!"

Tommy: "And the mama bear said—"

Don Standley: "Somebody's been eating my soup, too!"

Tommy: "And then the baby bear said—"

J. Spencer Winn: "Somebody's been eating my soup, and they ate it all up!"

And so the part about the chairs was carried through in the same order, and then—

Tommy: "Then the three bears went upstairs, the papa bear started to lie down, and he said—"

Bruce: "Somebody's been lying on my bed!"

Tommy: "Then the mama bear started to lie down (Don did so) and she said—"

Bruce: BO-IN-NG!"

Sentry: Halt! Who goes there?

Private Low Class: Ah, soldier, you wouldn't know me anyways. I just blew in this camp today.

Teen-agers Wear Children's Togs

Neff and Oliver Register First in Baby Contest

Friday, 13, seniors of Canyon High School celebrated Kid Day by wearing short dresses or short trousers and bringing toys and all day suckers to school.

Earl Lock Neff's baby picture won first place for the most beautiful baby and Sandy Oliver's won first for being the "cutest" baby judged by a committee of juniors and high school teachers who made the selections from a group of thirty baby pictures of 1945 seniors.

Visiting different rooms, girls contested with boys in singing ditties and ballads to find which group was better.

With lace petticoats showing and trousers so tight some boys wearing them dared not sit, the group met in front of the building to compare costumes, patter around in bare feet, and have pictures made.

Hiking to town the seniors first found themselves in a drug store dancing, and later in the cafe eating hamburgers.

Coming back on their hike many faces were sun burnt. Even J. Spencer Winn found a mud puddle in which to wade.

Some of the boys even took their shirts off to enjoy the cool breeze and to start a sun tan.

Many games were played through the day. A base ball game was played with the seventh grade in the morning, and in the afternoon the overgrown first graders played marbles, keep-away, jakes, and jumped ropes until the dismissal bell rang, announcing that the difficult work of being a child again was concluded.

"I just met your friend Phil Topper, and he had a pinched look." "What was wrong?" "Oh he was walking between two cops."

Dr. Anderson Attends State Convention

DR. HATTIE M. ANDERSON

The State Convention of the American Association of University Women, held at Waco last week-end, considered a wide range of subjects related to general welfare and to the problems of women and children, according to Dr. Hattie M. Anderson who attended as the official representative of West Texas State College and the Canyon Branch of the Association.

Those in attendance were reminded by Dr. Helen White of the University of Wisconsin that "The individual determines the quality of the community and the community determines the quality of the nation."

Another speaker emphasized that the notable contribution of women to national welfare since they became voters has been in the fields of education, especially the promotion of nursery school, health, bettering schools, and in the organization of public forums for the discussion of problems involved in establishing and maintaining world peace.

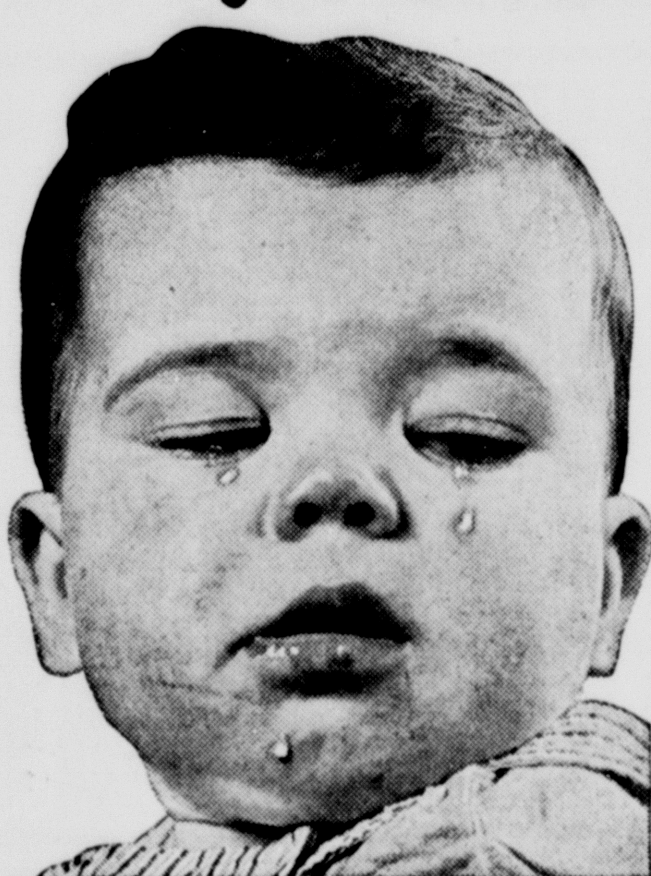

It was brought out that Texas has completed a $40,000 scholarship fund in honor of Helen Mary Kirby, and Branches in the state were asked to raise $280 for special scholarship purposes.

Opinions were expressed that there should be more women on local post-war planning boards and that women have a special service to render to legislative bodies.

West Texas State College holds associate membership in the American Association of University Women.

Dr. Anderson made the trip to

"I've been hearing a lot about farm telephones lately"

It's a live subject with telephone people. They're doing a lot of research and planning right now.

What does the telephone company have in mind?

Two main points. One is to improve the service over existing lines. The other is to extend telephone service to families not reached by existing lines.

What are some of the new ideas for farm telephone service?

One that has a lot of promise is to send telephone conversations over electric power lines. Another is a new, stronger telephone wire that requires fewer poles and has greater resistance to storms. A third is a radiotelephone system to reach people in remote spots.

Is telephone service over power lines now practical?

Yes. Bell telephone scientists began working on it in 1938 and started field tests with the REA in 1940. Before the war interrupted, it was clear that a suitable system could be produced.

The postwar farm telephone job will be big. But the combination of telephone research and the know-how of practical telephone men is the best key to progress.

Story of Canyons Proves To Be Delightful

"The Story of the Canyons," given Thursday night under the direction of the department of Physical Education, was received with delight by a capacity house. It was equally enjoyed by students, faculty, townspeople and all the members of the cast and others who assisted in its production.

"One of the most satisfying amateur performances I have ever seen," said one, "The snake dance was very impressive," said one, "But all acts were well and beautifully done," said another. Many in the audience were impressed with the stage setting. The script also came in for much favorable comment.

Dr. S. H. Condron, chairman of the Promotion Committee said to the audience, "There are many many places which are known for the annual pageants which they produce, using the same idea from year to year. The production tonight shows that it would be entirely possible for a pageant to be given here which would bring people from hundreds of miles to see it, and would advertise not only our college but our great Palo Duro Park, as well."

Miss Ruth Cross, and Mrs. Oma Ford have expressed their appreciation of the splendid co-operation of all departments and all students. "We couldn't have done it without lots of help," said Miss Cross.

A statement regarding finances and plans for the future is expected within the next week.

HE PASSED THROUGH

A colored soldier was stopped by a sentry one dark night.

"Let me see your pass paper," said the sentry.

"Ain't got no pass paper," said the other.

"Can't pass through here without no pass paper," declared the sentry.

The first soldier rolled his eyes, reached into his coat pocket, drew forth a razor and opened it.

"Boy," he snarled, "I've got a mother in heaven, a father in hell, and a gal in Blankville. And, believe me, I've gwine to see one o' dem tonight."

SHOCKING

Rastus: "I got me an electric razor."

Moses: "Huh! You is up-to-date."

Rastus: "Yes, suh! I electrocutes mah opponents."

"Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man."

"Well, you don't have to try to get to Heaven in one night."

SHE AGREED

A pretty young nurse was selling poppies.

Chris told her that he would give her a $5 bill for a poppy provided she would promise to nurse him if he ever went to her hospital. She promptly agreed.

"By the way," Chris asked, "where is your hospital?"

"I'm at the Queen Charlotte Maternity Hospital," meekly replied the pretty nurse, putting the five spot into her box.

Grandfather: When I was your age my ambition was to have a gig and a girl.

Father: When I was a boy I wanted a flivver and a flapper.

Son: Well, Pop, I'll take a plane and a Jane.

Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands. But like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them you will reach your destiny. —Carl Schurz.

TIME WILL TELL

There'll never be a woman.

In the White House I am told For a President must be at least Thirty-five years old.

She (cooly): You bad boy. Don't you kiss me again.

Corporal Kerr: I won't. I'm just trying to find out who has the gin at this party.

Out of Your Earnings Get Yourself An Income for Life...

Every business and professional woman—every woman who works—reaches the day when she no longer can or no longer cares to work. When that day comes to you, Lady, will your savings continue to bring you a paycheck for the graceful years of life, or have you been preparing for your retirement? Out of your earnings you can, you know, just as Miss R. B. did.

Miss R. B. was a teacher in the public school system of a Central Texas City. Through the years she set aside a nominal monthly sum out of her earnings to create a fund for her retirement. In the course of time she paid for two SOUTHWESTERN LIFE RETIREMENT INCOME contracts. Both contracts have matured. But Miss R. B. never missed the money she took periodically from her paycheck to create her savings fund—not as much as she would miss the $92.51 she receives from SOUTHWESTERN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY each month, and will continue to receive as long as she lives.

Out of your earnings you can get yourself an income for life. You can have $50—$75—$100, or whatever you wish a month—every month, as your income for life, and you can have the checks begin at age 50, 55, 60, or whenever you wish them to begin. Now, while you are earning, is the time to start your program. Get an estimate of your needs today. Response to a request for full information regarding your requirements will not obligate you; that's a part of our service.

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

Over the ravaged ground of war-torn Europe, trudge 125 million men, women, and children who have given all but life itself toward the same permanent peace we all are striving for.

Their need for clothing is as great as that for food—in some areas deaths from exposure equal those from starvation.

These people need something you don't. They need your spare clothing.

150 million pounds must be collected this month. Will you give your share?

What YOU Can Do!

1. Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, shirts, jackets, pants, skirts, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.
2. Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT now or arrange to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.
3. Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.
